

DIRECTOR'S LETTER

Wednesday 19th November 2025

Dear Parents of Brookes Moscow,

RE: Director's Update

I hope everyone is enjoying their week, and looking forward to a relaxing weekend ahead. I am writing with some short updates and information.

'Don't forget to look at our latest page on our website, dedicated to all our Communication and Announcements.'

NEASC (New England Association of of Schools and Colleges)

I am delighted to announce that our school has been accepted to become members, and accredited by a well respected and highly effective international accreditation body. The New England Association of Schools and Colleges (NEASC) partners with schools to co-create the future of education through purposeful accreditation focused on high-quality learning for all students. Focusing on pre-kindergarten (Nursery) through grade 12 (Year 13) they provide a relevant, future forward framework for meaningful, ongoing whole school improvement through accreditation, professional assistance, and pursuit of best practices. Founded in 1885, NEASC has a long tradition and proven reputation for quality assurance in education.

The organisation has agreed to fast track our accreditation, based on the excellent work we did with the Council of International Schools (CIS) - our previous accreditation authority. We will be having an initial accreditation visit in late February, and become fully accredited by April 2026.

With such an accreditation, we will be able to offer our own High School Graduating Diplomas from September 2026 onwards. This, along with the introduction of the AP (Advanced Placement) examinations and programme, will form the basis of the children's graduating certification; once again, permitting them into universities world wide.

As we move into January, I will be providing more detailed information about the accreditation, and the introduction of the AP and high school programme at Brookes Moscow. For now, I hope that this is received well by our families, as an accreditation and graduating body, providing the children with a unique route into their chosen future college or university.

An Introduction to one of our teachers...

Mr. Peter Geiger
(Head of the Arts & Visual Arts Teacher)

Peter is an experienced visual arts educator specializing in fostering creativity and critical thinking through hands-on, student-centered projects. With a deep passion for both traditional and contemporary art forms, Peter integrates a range of artistic techniques and themes into his lessons. Peter's teaching philosophy emphasizes exploration, engagement, and personal expression, encouraging students to connect art to their own lives and cultural contexts. Peter has just been promoted at the school to take on the role of Head of the Arts Programme)

A story from afar...

We were delighted to hear from one of our graduating students from last year, with regards to how he is getting on in his new university:

Nikita Markosyan - California Arts University.

"Update from LA for my first month in CalArts"

I successfully made it to the United States and have just completed my first month at CalArts in Los Angeles, California. It has been a really exciting experience so far. The program is everything I hoped for. It is creative, intense, and full of inspiring people. The schedule is demanding, but I am managing well and enjoying it. I also really like California. The atmosphere, the people, and the environment feel like the right fit for me.

Thank you again, Brookes, for all the support and encouragement you gave me. It truly helped me get to this point. I hope we can stay in touch.

Wishing you all an enjoyable rest of the week.

Best wishes,

Mr. Charley King
Director of school
